

WOODMEN OFFICERS WIN THEIR FIGHT

THE RULERS HASTEN THEIR ELECTION.

Head Consul Northcott, and Other Officers Are Chosen Without Opposition—The Order Shows Phenomenal Growth—Will Make Addresses in Reply to the Charges Made.

Dubuque, Iowa, June 2.—The Modern Woodmen of America opened their tenth biennial convention Tuesday morning.

Head Consul Northcott at once called up in advance of his regular report of the committee on laws, omitting the old provision that the election of officers shall be the last business. The committee amendment was adopted by a three-fourths vote, whereupon Illinois nominated Northcott for head consul, and the nomination was seconded on behalf of all the other states and made unanimous. Head Clerk Hawes was also renominated without opposition, also the present directors, except that South Dakota nominated a man.

The biennial report of Head Consul Northcott showing that during the last seven years the membership had increased from 40,000 to 240,000; the average decreased from 38.05 to 35.76 years, and the cost of management from $1.62 to 61 cents. At present $550,000,000 of insurance is in force; 127,113 new certificates have been written, and 1,838 new camps organized. The question of an emergency fund has been entirely eliminated from the consideration of head camp by a vote of the members, the vote being decisively in opposition.

The report of A. H. Hollister, head banker, showed that during the biennial period ending March 31, 1897, the total receipts were $3,534,222, and the disbursements $3,155,312, leaving a balance of $415,234, which included the 1896 balance of $36,324.

The order is now confined to those states in which mortality is lowest and to keep down mortality it excludes from its territory all cities of over 200,000 inhabitants and all suburbs within five miles thereof. This restriction remains, but to maintain the rate of increase of membership the convention, by a three-fourths vote, extended the jurisdiction to the middle, New England and far western states.

The head officers will today present an elaborate address in answer to the charges made by a committee of citizens and Woodmen from Fulton, Ill.

Advanced to Third Reading.

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—Senator Fitzpatrick's pooling measure, which allows racing on any one track for thirty days between May 15 and Oct. 15 was brought before the senate Tuesday. Senator Fitzpatrick offered an amendment providing that the meetings may be held in an inclosure of twenty acres or more, instead of forty, as in the original bill. ## A LIVELY SESSION AT THE CAPITAL

AN ANIMATED DEBATE IN THE HOUSE.

Dilatory Tactics Are Denounced by the Minority and Defended by the Republicans—Good Progress on the Tariff Bill in the Senate—General Washington News.

Washington, June 2.—There was a lively session of the house Tuesday and the policy of Speaker Reed and the Republican majority was again made the subject of attacks by members of the minority. Mr. Richardson (Dem., Tex.) and Mr. Simpson (Pop., Kas.) led the onslaught for the minority. The majority decision was defended by Mr. Henderson (Rep., Iowa) and Grosvenor (Rep., Ohio). The appeal of Mr. Lewis (Dem., Wash.) taken last Thursday from the decision of the chair, that a resolution relating to foreign affairs did not constitute a question of privilege, was laid on the table.

Mr. Richardson opened the attack on the inaction of the house and protested vigorously against the present method of doing business.

Mr. Simpson (Pop., Kas.) remarked upon the spectacle presented by the house, "because of the refusal of the speaker to obey the rules and appoint committees. We must come," he continued, "to the committee on rules as supplicants."

Mr. Henderson came forward with a rather elaborate defense of the speaker and the course of the majority generally. He said that the majority stood ready to finish the work it was called here to perform whenever it came from the other end of the capitol. Gentlemen seemed forget, he said, that a new congress assembled March 4, called together by a patriotic President to meet the condition in the treasury. In nine days the house had sent a bill which would furnish ample revenue and give an ample balance annually to the senate. He inveighed against the abuse hurled at the speaker, which he declared was neither honorable nor consistent with high dignity.

Mr. Grosvenor (Rep., Ohio) followed in a similar strain. He spoke of the words of the "wild, senseless, imbecile" going to the country from a certain quarter (evidently referring to Senator Morgan's speech in the senate). He said it ought to be rebuked. The idea that because a majority of the house saw fit to adjourn three days at a time congress was not in session, he characterized as ridiculous, and referred to the author of this "discovery" as one whose voice sounded "so sweet to him that he filled the air with it by the month."

TARIFF BILL PROGRESS.

Metal Schedule Is Reached by the Senate—Few Amendments.

Washington, June 2.—The senate made good progress on the tariff bill Tuesday, advancing to the important metal schedule. During the day Messrs. Vest and Jones (Ark.), in behalf of the minority of the finance committee, proposed numerous amendments, which were defeated by majorities of eight to fourteen. The votes were on party lines in the main, although Messrs. Rawlins and White, Democrats, voted with the Republicans to increase the rate on onyx, and Mr. McEnery (dem.) voted with the Republicans against Mr. Jones' proposition for a reduction of the rates on china.

As a sequel to the recent sensational speech of Mr. Tillman, Mr. Smith (N. J.) rose to a question of personal privilege, while the tariff debate was proceeding, and made a brief but pointed denial of all speculation in stock either recently or at any time when sugar was the subject of legislation. Mr. Tillman was among those who heard the denial, but he made no comment on it. Senator McLaurin (S. C.) was sworn in early in the day, raising the membership of the senate to 89.

PEOPLE TO DECIDE.

"Shall the constitution of the United States be so amended as to provide for the election of United States senators and of the president and vice-president by direct vote of the people."

It is made the duty of the secretary of each state to forward the result of the vote to the president, who is required to transmit the statements to congress.

The debt, independent of the cash, was increased during the month by $463,115.

SETTLERS IN FEAR OF THE RED MEN

CHEYENNE INDIANS CAUSE A PANIC.

Montana Ranches Abandoned, and Families Taking Refuge at Fort Custer and Miles City—Authorities Have Ordered Troops Under Arms—Serious Results Are Anticipated.

Helena, Mont., June 2.—Intense excitement prevails throughout Custer county, in southeastern Montana, owing to the uprising of the Cheyenne Indians, who are already on the warpath. Every form of work on ranch and range has been abandoned, families of ranchmen and settlers are fleeing for safety to Fort Custer and Miles City and across the line into Wyoming.

The cavalry and company E of the infantry from Fort Keogh have left for the agency and the remaining troops at Fort Keogh are under orders to march at a moment's notice, orders having been received by the ordnance officer to have 10,000 rounds of ammunition ready for immediate use. Six companies from Fort Custer are now at the agency under command of Maj. Merrill.

Stages going to the southern part of the county are loaded with arms and ammunition for the use of ranchmen and postmasters stationed along the route have appealed to the department at Washington for protection and for an escort for the stages.

The Cheyennes are re-enforcing themselves from other tribes, the Sioux and Crows, and are continually dancing, the agents being powerless to stop them. The Indians are well provided with firearms, being much better equipped than the settlers. White Bull, with a band of 125 warriors, has escaped from the agency, and is secreted among the hills on Tongue river, near Ashland.

It is reported that a number of persons have been killed and that the United States troops have been attacked at the agency, but nothing is known definitely, dispatches being received only by courier. Unless the uprising is speedily quelled serious results are anticipated.

Orders Sent from Washington.

Washington, June 2.—Secretary Bliss has wired instructions to Indian Agent Stouch, whose reservation is the seat of the Cheyenne Indian trouble, directing him to immediately notify the department of the situation and to use every effort to deliver the Indian fugitives to the civil officers showing satisfactory credentials. The northern Cheyennes are known here as a warlike band, easily inflamed, whose actions cannot be too closely guarded.

DONS ATTACK UNCLE SAM

El Comercio of Havana Says Spain Has No Fears of America.

Havana, June 2.—In its last issue El Comercio, the organ of the retail grocers, violently attacks the United States. It says in part:

"It is necessary to prove to the Americans that we care nothing for the insulting and aggressive stand taken by the American senate. A country where the old have less judgment than the young is a degenerate country, a country of premature civilization, which will rot before it ripens. Let us tell them—or better still—let us prove to them that we can laugh at their bragadocio.

"Really, the airs put on by those Americans require energetic action on the part of the Spanish people. At the very moment when the revolution is almost suppressed they appear again with their belligerence declaration. We care nothing for it. They can go ahead on this line if they please; it will only more clearly define the situation and our heroic navy may yet prove what it can do with our enemies. Let it be demonstrated, aside from diplomatic methods, that the Spanish people despise the jingoes of the United States, and know how to spit in their faces 100 times."

Yellow Fever at New York.

New York, June 2.—Angus McLellan, a second-cabin passenger on board the steamer Alliancia, which reached this port to-day from Colon, died of yellow fever yesterday at sea. His father, Tobias Koffman, owns two farms, and on one is a barn used to store grain. This grain was being stolen, and the boy hid there to catch the thief. BELOIT MAN SUED
BY ROCKFORD MAID

IMMOGENE G. JOHNSON SEEKS HEAVY DAMAGES.

She says George Smith, of the Line City, Deceived Her, so She Demands $25,000—Old Love Letters Furnish the Alleged Proof, and Developments Are Promised Ere Long.

Imogene G. Johnson, of Rockford, the woman who tried to commit suicide by shooting in Beloit not long ago, has filed a breach of promise proceeding against George Smith, a prominent Beloit man. She asks for damages to mutilated affection, broken truth and wasted sentiment in the sum of $25,000.

Smith arrived in Rockford during the week and immediately went to the home of the girl, who is a cook. Here he was met by Imogene's attorney in whose possession there is said to be a pack of "old love letters."

George Smith is a well-to-do man in the prime of life. He is retired from business at Beloit and might be considered a good catch. The woman claims she had been deceived and that her letters show Smith won her love under pretense of marriage. They met at Beloit, from which place Miss Johnson came. Some startling developments may evolve from the case, as it is understood the trouble has been long brewing and the last resort taken only when there was no other resource. Miss Johnson positively refuses to settle.

The report is to be printed by the state and distributed to the members of the next legislature. It is believed that the work of the commission will be of great service to the state, since there are hundreds of laws and supreme court decisions bearing on the matter of taxation.

TO DEDICATE NEW FLAG POLE.

C. & N. W. Employees Will Raise the Flag in the Near Future.

The new flag pole at C. & N. W. Ry. shops will be dedicated by the Grand Army veterans some evening in the near future, at the call of the commander.

The Post will march in a body to the grounds and give the new pole and flag the Grand Army salute and the G. A. B. cheer. Col. Kimberley and a male quartette will be there. The exercises will be brief but in keeping with the occasion. It will be remembered that last October the shop men had a flag raising that was honored by the presence of many distinguished people; by the D. A. R.; and an enthusiastic gathering of nearly 5,000 people. The flag at that time was supported by an iron pole of eighty feet high. During a heavy gale in November the pole was blown over. In the meantime it was found to be in a poor location, owing to damage by smoke from the locomotives. Soon after, Master Mechanic Whalen received a severe injury, incapacitating him for the time being for the erection of a new pole. Now, however, a new pole has been obtained and erected at the intersection of North and Jefferson streets, in the rear of the shops' office. Its height from base to ball is ninety-five feet, and no part of the pole is in the ground. The base structure is warranted to last for twenty-five years and the pole proper for fifty years. By its construction it can be lowered and raised on two hours' notice. The grounds about the shop have been beautifully and appropriately arranged in keeping with the pole, all at the expense of the shop employees, engineers and firemen making their homes here. There will be no flag raising ceremonies in connection with the dedication as this pole is simply a substitute for the one destroyed. The G. A. B. members are simply going to take charge and dedicate the flag. The G. A. B. drum corps will accompany the Post to the grounds, and it is expected that the Light Infantry and the Christ Church Cadets will be present.

There has been a change in the time table of the "Janesville accommodation" which has brought joy to the hearts of local patrons but grief to the hearts of the lunch counter proprietor at Harvard. For several years the "accommodation" has made a stop of twenty minutes for supper at Harvard. The recent change in the time of this train means that it will make the twenty minute stop in this city. The lunch counter people at Harvard say that this change means a difference of a great many dollars in a year's time.

ABOUT THE DAMAGE SUITS.

W. G. Wheelock Says the People Hold the Remedy in Their Hands.

Editor Gazette.—The matter of damage suits against the city for accidents has become notorious, and in the opinion of many an injustice and outrage. Every such verdict affects hundreds of tax payers, many of them owners of little homes who in these times can hardly afford to pay legitimate and necessary expenses. Now this is all wrong and can and should be remedied. It seems that Wisconsin is the favorite location for these schemes to be worked. If a person falls on a sidewalk in Chicago they don't think of trying to make some one else suffer for their misfortune, but here the prospect of getting something for nothing, the lottery idea, is strong. If a person stubs their toe here and falls they rush for a lawyer who brings their "case" into court, and after a long and expensive "trial" the jury goes out to deliberate. They don't bring in "six cents damages," as is frequently done in other places, or for anything less than the full amount asked. They generally tumble over themselves to unanimously declare the plaintiff entitled to a small fortune. Glib tongued lawyers use their eloquence on the jury; the physician gives his opinion that the person is ruined for life, and the prize is won. Then perhaps the husband, seeing how easy it is to get something for nothing commences suit against the city for consequential damages, such as loss of his wife's society, etc. (lawyer's fees not mentioned) and perhaps in a short time after receiving the prize they draw in the lottery, she is "as good as new" and is riding a wheel!

The city, or rather the tax payers are innocent parties in all these damage suits. It is arranged so that the property owners, whose duty it is to keep sidewalks in front of their own doors in repair, shall be exempt and the city, whose duty it is to see that property owners do keep up repairs is the convenient one to "go for." It is next to impossible in a comparatively new city like this, where miles of wooden walks are in use, to have them at all times so that an excuse cannot be made for a damage suit where the loss seems to encourage the commencing of such suits and where lawyers, courts and juries seem to help it on. We all know that in our fraternal societies no sick benefits or accident benefits are paid the members unless so stipulated and provided for by greatly increased payments into the treasury. The city and tax payers do not levy taxes to pay for accidents and it seems no more than justice or common sense if "not law—an accident may occur to a sidewalk in the right time or a broken board come in some place unexpectedly—that people who want damages for accidents which happen while walking the streets should take out accident policies and pay for them. On the last damage suit against the city one jurymen jokingly remarked it the amount of reward by the jury seemed large perhaps it was necessary if they expected the lady claimant to get any thing! In all these cases one or more of the jury is generally a resident of the city and a tax payer and the other members of the jury place the responsibility of the large damages on them largely. The people make the laws and courts, if not the juries, and pay for all and the remedy is in their hands. Let the intelligence and good sense of the people of this commonwealth plan to remedy this evil and meantime let us have the spirit of our forefathers in colonial days who said "millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute." Let us make it hard to collect such damages thereby deterring others from trying their hand at these suits.

W. G. WHEELLOCK.

Complexional Indications.

The complexion of persons whose digestion is out of order, who are bilious, or who lack vigor always exhibit an unhealthy tint. It is by regulating the bodily organs and promoting digestion and assimilation, that the parchment hue indicative of ill health, is banished from the cheeks. To rectify the fault of a allow complexion, use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an invigorant and alterative which removes those obstacles to renewed strength, physical comfort and personal attractiveness—an imperfect digestion and secretion, and a disordered condition of the bowels. Persistence in the use of this inestimable corrective and tonic will assuredly result in renewed physical regularity and vigor, and cause the glow and clear color of health to return to the sallow, wasted cheek.

COTTON MILLS TO SHUT DOWN

The Eastern Concerns Say They Cannot Make Money.

A movement that may mean much to the Janesville Cotton Company, and which may develop later into a more or less general curtailment of production among New England cotton mills, is to be started next month by the mills of the Dwight Manufacturing company at Chicopee, the Lyman company at Holyoke, and the Great Falls Manufacturing company at Somersworth, N. H. The officials of these mills yesterday gave as their reasons for such action the present unsatisfactory state of the market. The Dwight mills have a large foreign trade, particularly in China, but both this and the domestic business have suffered from the existing conditions of the business. All the mills in question are engaged in the manufacture of sheetings, shirtings and drills, are capitalized in the aggregate at $4,170,000 and operate 350,000 spindles and about 9,000 looms. The backward market for goods has been felt by these mills, in common with others, notably the Salmon Falls, (N. H.) company, which has already slackened its pace, and short time will prevail in them during June, July and August. It is not unlikely that the Great Amoskeag corporation may take action at the coming meeting of the directors similar to that taken last summer, when a shutdown was ordered.

Made Slim Showing.

Advocates of a general shutdown point to the meager showing made in the report of dividends paid by the mills for the last quarter, from which it appears that thirty-eight corporations have paid to stockholders $192,950, or an average of 1 per cent, on a capital of $22,133,000—one of the slimmest showings in the history of the business, and indicating that the surplus accounts from which dividends have been drawn in the past have either been used up or are needed for other purposes. Fifteen of the mills, among which are some so equipped as to produce goods economically under the stress of hard times, have passed their dividends entirely, and the stockholders in nearly every other instance have had to be satisfied with about the smallest dividend possible.

Referring to the matter, a prominent cotton mill treasurer says that, while no agreement had been made or is likely to be made between the various mills, there have been some intimations that a curtailment would not be entirely unwelcome or fail of pretty general indorsement. The business as it is conducted affords no profit, and while there is apparent an undercurrent of returning confidence and its attendant prosperity, it cannot be fully realized until stocks throughout the country are smaller than they are at present and better prices are obtainable.

ARE TO EXAMINE PLUMBERS

New Law Passed by the Last Legislature Applies to Us.

A new department of the city government, relating particularly to the supervision of the plumbing and drain laying business, has practically been established in this city by an enactment of the last legislature. Chapter 338 regulates this business and prescribes under what conditions plumbing can be done in cities of the first, second and third classes which includes Janesville.

The act creates in the cities of the classes designated a body to be known as an examining board for plumbers and no person, firm or corporation can engage in the business either as master or employing plumber or as journeyman plumber unless licensed in accordance with the provisions of the act. The board of examiners is to consist of members of the board of public works, the "inspector of plumbing" in cities which have such an officer and a third member who shall be a practical plumber, all serving on the examining board without pay.

Must Take Examination.

The members of the board of public works are known, the inspector of plumbing is an official to be appointed under the board of public works and the other members of the board, the practical plumber is to be appointed by the mayor. The act makes it the duty of the mayor to appoint such officer as is under his control within three months, from May first, and thereafter annually before May first, such person to serve for a term of one year.

It is further made the duty of the board of public works, within three months of the passage and publication of the act, to appoint one or more inspectors of plumbing, who shall be practical plumbers, and they shall hold office under the board until removed, such removal to be "for cause" only, which cause must be shown. The compensation of this inspector is to be paid out of the city treasury at a rate to be determined upon by the board of public works appointing such official.

All persons desiring to do a plumbing business in the city must apply to and be examined by this board, which shall be issued a license. In case of a firm or corporation, one member licensed satisfies the requirements of the act. This state law fixes the license fee at $2 per year for employing plumbers and 50 cents per year for journeymen.

The Marvel of Modern Science

Tumors Discovered by Means of X-Ray

Old Versus New.

Education shapes our beliefs and prejudices and makes us cling to old-fashioned ideas and notions until new developments in science prove the error of our teaching and force new truths upon us. A few months ago you would laugh at anyone claiming to be able to photograph an object through a six-inch plank, and yet today everyone knows this is easily accomplished by electricity. Scientific discovery is constantly upsetting old doctrines and enabling us to do hitherto impossible things. In no way has this fact been more strikingly illustrated than by the results of my new methods of curing.

Chronic Diseases—Almost every person has been told by good and honest doctors that the chronic disease of which I make a specialty could not be cured. Not long ago that was true, but it is not true today. The doctor who makes such an assertion is away behind the times. He has lost step in the march of science, his professional knowledge is covered with cobwebs, moth-eaten, and needs to be renovated by a new course of study in the up-to-date hospitals devoted to these special diseases. He may be a good doctor for measles, he may be well versed in ancient history, but he is a "back number" on special and chronic diseases. Hundreds of thousands of people are every year doctor-dred by physicians who have no idea what the trouble is, and, rather than confess their ignorance, they prescribe and treat the complaining patients without the least chance of benefitting them, and a great many chances of positive injury.

A Secret of Dr. Melville's Success—The question is often asked, "How is it that Dr. Melville can cure in so short a time diseases that have baffled other physicians for years?" The answer is easily found: She confines her attention to chronic diseases, leaving all acute cases to the general practitioners. She has devoted her life to the study of these diseases exclusively in the large hospitals in London, Paris and New York. She spares no expense to secure for the patient the latest and best medicine, and is supplied with expensive apparatus and necessary instruments.

THE STATE DAIRY SCHOOL

The standing of the Wisconsin state dairy school is even higher in the east than at home. It is recognized by the dairying authorities of the country as the pioneer of dairy advancement. A recent edition of the Chicago Times-Herald gave a page to the Wisconsin school and its officers and the Jersey Bulletin makes this significant comment:

"When, years ago, the first dairy school in America was opened in Wisconsin under the energetic promotion of Prof. W. A. Henry, the Jersey Bulletin hailed it as the happiest omen of the future growth and prosperity of the dairy interest in the state, and expressed the earnest hope that all of the other state experiment stations would follow the good example. Today, every prediction made in behalf of the Wisconsin school has been more than realized. The school is coming to be one of the most popular features of the university, and is doing as much to win the farmers to its support as anything else. The school combines admirably practice with science—teaches not only the how but the why of butter-making. It has already turned out scores and scores of young men, taught and trained in the very best methods known to the dairy art, and skilled in the manipulation of all the most improved dairy appliances, and each year the number of such men sent out is constantly increasing. They have gone far and near and are becoming the centers for diffusing a more general knowledge of the best modern dairy art."

Senator Deboe of Kentucky, is one of the silent men of the senate, while Joe Blackburn, the man he succeeded, was one of the most talkative men of that body. Blackburn is also a connoisseur in one of the principal products of the Blue Grass state, while Senator Deboe doesn't even know the taste of whisky.

Added significance was given to the Memorial day ceremonies in Janesville by the participation of so many young people. It was made manifest on every hand that they appreciated the privilege of offering a tribute to the brave men gone before, and that in their keeping the spirit of memorial day would never wane.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effectual Cure for It.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing; headaches, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach.

To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harrison the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastase, Aseptic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. N. J. Boher, of 2710 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribe for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

Send for little book, mailed free, on stomach troubles, by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. The tablets can be found at all drug stores.

FOLSOM TESTIFIES ON WITNESS STAND

CLINTON MAN TELLS HIS SIDE OF IT.

The Alleged Incendiary Relates to the Jury His Travels on the Night of the Blaze at Burt's Barn—Case Will Go to the Jury Late This Afternoon.

In a clear tone of voice that could be heard in every nook and corner of the circuit court chamber, Charles Folsom, the alleged Clinton fire-bug, told on the stand this morning, his side of the story.

Testimony on the part of the prosecution has been finished, and it is expected that the case will go to the jury late this afternoon. For the defense, the first witness called was the prisoner. On the morning of Nov. 9, Folsom said, he made a trip to Beloit to sell the same quantity of baled straw that was destroyed during the fire, which occurred that evening. He claims that he closed the deal that day with E. J. Adams of Beloit.

His Movements That Night

On the afternoon of the same day he came to this city and after transacting business with District Attorney Jackson left for home on the 7:20 train. On arriving at Clinton he went directly to Burt's livery barn. After remaining a short time he went to Mont Palmer's barber shop and got shaved. When he left the shop it was 8:45 o'clock. From there he entered the Cheesman hotel where he remained until about 10 o'clock when he left for home. At 10:15 o'clock the alarm of fire was sounded, and when Edwin Hamner—Burt's hired man—went to Burt's home to notify him that his barn was on fire, he found Folsom at home.

The witnesses sworn today on the part of the defense were E. J. Adams, Marshall Baldwin, Edwin Hamner, Burt Downing and Mont Palmer, and each corroborated the defendant.

Arguments Are Made

Final arguments on the part of both the prosecution and defense were opened this afternoon, and it is expected that the case will go to the jury before supper time.

Other witnesses for the defense were Dr. A. O. Wright, James Lamphier, Edwin Eldredge, Charles Jones, Henry Cheesman, Seth Johnson, James Mair, Arthur Fredendall, Albert Huggins, Jay Jones, I. Wheeler and W. M. Murray.

On motion of the defendant's attorney, the case of William Hardin vs. the C. M. & St. P. railroad was set for trial at 9 a. m. on June 4.

Judge Bennett today ordered that the order heretofore made deducting one-half a day from the pay of state witnesses be vacated, and the witnesses be allowed full pay.

In the case of Otto J. Kerschenshteiner vs. John Edenharter et al., on the reading and filing of the sheriff's report, the court ordered that the same be fully ratified and confirmed. The parties interested are from Jefferson county.

CHICAGO MARKETS BY WIRE

Robert Lindholm's Letter On the Condition of Crops and Trade.

Chicago, June 2.—[Special]—The feature of the wheat market today was a decided bar movement of July wheat at Minneapolis which declined a cent below yesterday's close and this in spite of smaller receipts in that section. A better shipping demand was developed in this market and this was the cause of the scarceness in the last hour of the session, but it must be conceded that the response was hardly up to the expectation of the bulls. There seems to be a remarkable speculative apathy and what speculation there is on the selling side. Cash wheat in a few favorite houses is selling two cents above the price of July wheat but in other houses it is neglected.

Our crop news from Indiana, Ohio and Illinois are somewhat better than they were a month ago. In Missouri there is a further decline and the extravagant claims made for Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas are now generally conceded to be misleading if not intentionally fraudulent. Fraud has been pretty general whenever it was needed and there is no immediate prospect of any frost. It is now conceded that what we claimed last fall has proven to be correct, namely the consumption of cornmeal as a substitute for wheat flour, and from now on there will be a close relation between these cereals and any material advanced in the price of corn would be reflected in wheat more than heretofore.

An advance in corn must depend on crop damage. Without such damage we may look for even lower prices than were witnessed last September when corn was sold at nineteen cents.

George Atkinson was painfully hurt at the Millmore stone quarry this afternoon, when a large amount of stone and dirt fell from the high bank, almost burying him. Fearing that the whole bank was about to fall, Atkinson's comrades hastened to his assistance and he was pulled from under the pile of debris. Dr. James Mills was called, and found that while Atkinson was painfully cut and bruised, no bones were broken, and his hurts are not thought to be dangerous. Several cuts that had to be sewed up were inflicted by the sharp stones.

BUILD A NEW JAIL WITHIN ONE YEAR

ROCK COUNTY BOARD GETS FORMAL NOTICE.

Unless Steps Are Taken Without Delay, the Present Building Will Be Condemned and Prisoners Sent to Other Counties—Question of a New Site Brought Up.

The county board of supervisors was given formal notice today that a new jail must be built within a year. The notice came from the state board of control and was as follows: Madison, Wis., May 27 1897.—Board of Supervisors of Rock county—Gentlemen—You will please take notice that on the 24th day of May 1897 this board made an examination of the jail of your county at Janesville and that from such examination it is the opinion of this board that said jail by reason of its very bad sanitary condition is dangerous to the health and lives of the prisoners confined therein and of the sheriff and his family who reside therein. The building is forty years old, inconvenient, poorly arranged and ventilated and it is the opinion of this board that the defects therein cannot be remedied by repairs and hence that a new jail should be constructed.

You are therefore notified that unless you construct a new jail for your county within one year from the filing of this notice with your county clerk, the present jail will be condemned as provided in chapter 218, laws of 1189.

State Board of Control, J. E. Hgo, Pres.

Clerk McIntyre read this communication, and in the discussion that followed, the opinion was expressed that more time than one year would be given, but that the consideration of plans should begin at once. The matter was made a special order of business for tomorrow at 3 p. m.

Supervisor Robert Moore was re-elected chairman of the board by a vote of 33 to 1, and the rules of the old board were adopted.

After the jail question had been discussed, the board adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow. The supervisors lingered about the building most of the afternoon discussing plans, and considering the advisability of finding a location on higher ground.

WOMEN AT NASHVILLE.

A Feature of the Centennial Fair Will Be Miss Enid Vandell's Statue.

Women interested in the Tennessee Centennial exposition at Nashville have planned innumerable attractions for their rendezvous--the Woman's building--from a collection of hand painted gourds to a cafe on the roof. Mrs. Van Leer Kirkman, president of the woman's department of the centennial, has aimed to have represented many out of the ordinary as well as stereotyped pursuits in the world of woman. There will be shown all sorts of unusual inventions by the sex, from the hand-made hammock of the Indian squaw to the ceramic creations of the metropolitan artist, the newest appliances for the use of the modern housewife, the latest advances made by the progressive sister in professional life--in short, the ingenious efforts of woman in her thousand and one arenas.

The woman's building is placed picturesquely in a cluster of trees. It is made of white staff, as are all the structures which have so suddenly grown on the hilly outskirts of Nashville. Architecturally the Woman's building is a partial counterpart of The Hermitage, the old homestead of President Andrew Jackson, near the centennial city. To the colonial style of this hospitable looking southern home have been added touches of Greek art, producing an uncommon and artistic effect. The design was the work of a Tennessee woman--Mrs. Sara Ward Conley. The white marble steps of the building lead to the fountain and the lotus pool basin.

The Tennessee women who have worked so arduously to make this beautiful building attractive on the inside for fair visitors to the centennial secured the nucleus of the necessary fund by issuing a woman's edition of a Nashville paper. The dollars which thus filled the exchequer were doubtless by the income of various enterprises, including the charge of several downtown stores for a day.

The general of these successful efforts, Mrs. Kirkman, is a daughter of the south. The first four years of her life were spent in Cuba, after which Memphis became her home. In that city she received her early education under the Episcopal Sisters of St. Mary, afterward pursuing a course of study at Fairmont college, Monticello. When 16 years old, she was sent to Paris for two years for the finishing touches to her education, which concluded with a year's travel through Europe. Eleven years ago she married Mr. Kirkman, a Tennessean, who, on his mother's side, is descended from General Anthony Wayne, of Revolutionary fame. Mrs. Kirkman is the daughter of Casswell Macon Thompson, only son of the Hon. Jacob Thompson, secretary of the interior under President Buchanan.

Tennessee women are particularly proud, aside from the exhibit in the Woman's building, of one piece of art. It is a colossal statue of Pallas Athene, 40 feet in height, including pedestal, modeled by Miss Enid Vandell, a Kentucky girl who is at present pursuing art in Paris. The statue, which is after Frohner's Pallas de Vellettri, in the Louvre, Paris, has been placed in front of the Parthenon. The adjustment of the parts of this immense statue, which is said to be the largest ever executed by a woman, was absolutely perfect.--Chicago Record.

The Pink Lawn Bodice For Summer Wear.
"The bodice that will undoubtedly be very popular during the coming season is made of pale pink lawn, with rows of narrow Valenciennes lace down each side of the closing," writes Isabel A. Mallon, describing "Summer Waists and Bodices" in The Ladies' Home Journal. "About the neck is the extremely high white linen collar which stands out horizontally. A peculiar effect is achieved by wearing with this bodice a high cravat of red silk tied in a flaring bow in front. The belt is also of red silk, fastening under a dull jet buckle. The sleeves are easy at the shoulders, shape in to fit the arms, and have turned back cuffs of white linen, caught with coral links. When the stiff collar is an adjunct to the shirt waist, care must be taken not only in choosing, but in tying one's stock or cravat so that not only an artistic but an individual air shall characterize it. The high collar rolling over is the rival of the new upright one with the horizontal border one inch wide."

Lace Waists.

Entire waists are made of white lace flouncing, the yoke covered with one width, which is so arranged that the scallop falls over the bust. From the edge of the yoke the flouncing falls to the waist line, or if it is wide enough it extends below and is left in a full ruche over the top of the dress skirt. The puffs at the sleeve tops are of lace, but most ladies prefer that the lower portions be made of silk.--New York Ledger.

He Didn't Laugh.
"You're a gentleman, sir; I can't say more. Allow me your hand to press! You're the only one of these men a score who didn't laugh when, on the floor, in the whirling dance I tripped, and tore my beautiful partner's dress."
"That I did not laugh is not strange, I say, for the lady's my wife, and her bills I pay."

KING OF CLUBS

The Policeman Is Peculiarly Susceptible to Kidney Trouble.

Causes and Cure Discussed--A Member of the St. Paul Police Force Tells How He Was Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Paul, Minn., June 2--Men who are constantly exposed to all sorts of weather, who have to stand on their feet for long periods of time, who wear tight belts or clothing close-fitting about the waist, are liable to kidney disease.

Take the policemen, for example. Their vocation is peculiarly trying. Policemen rarely have lung troubles but are too frequently afflicted with lame back, painful kidneys and rheumatic troubles. They should be told that there is a remedy that is within their reach, and a cure for all kidney ills.

The best proof of the power of these pills--known as Dodd's Kidney Pills--is in what they have done. They will cure because they have cured. They will not fail to cure because they have never failed. They will cure policemen because they have cured a member of the St. Paul police force, Detective Ahern.

Here is what Mr. Ahern says over his own signature. Ask him if it is not true, that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a wonderful remedy.

Dodd's Medicine Co.:
Gentlemen--I have been troubled for two years with pains in my back and side. I could not get any relief. I got a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after using part of the box my pains left me. I think Dodd's Kidney Pills are a wonderful pill, and I can highly recommend them to any person suffering with Kidney Disease. I have no objection to your publishing this if by so doing it may help others.

GIVES STRENGTH TO MEN

Free To All Who Are Weak And Worn

A METHOD TO CURE AND INCREASE THE POWER.

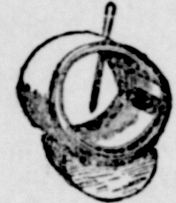

It is a remarkable fact that a man never appreciates the sufferings of others until he himself has passed through the fire of pain or remorse. Then it is that he looks around for those who are suffering; he wants them to profit by his experience; he gives his time and money gladly for the benefit of others and never tires of his zeal. There are plenty of men weak and worn out, struggling with remorse and fear, the natural outcome of habits that brought incapacity; a sense of loneliness and a feeling as if the best side of life had been banished forever. Such men should write to Thomas Slater, Box 424, Kalamazoo, Mich. He will send free by mail, in a plain, sealed envelope, full particulars about the method he used, and this will enable any man to get a complete cure at home. It is the method that Mr. Slater used to cure himself of the troubles that sap the strength and vigor and also enlarged his organs to natural size. The cure was complete, so satisfying and such a wonderful change from his former condition that he will gladly tell others all about it, sending all particulars. He figures that he doesn't know of a better way to show his appreciation of his own cure and sufferings of others. There must be generous men in this world to offset the tide of avarice. Write to Mr. Slater--it will cost nothing for his description and method.

A SIMPLE TIRE REPAIR.

Punctures in the well known Morgan & Wright tire are mended about as easily as a man would close a hole in his finger with a bit of court plaster. Inside of the inner tube of the tire lies a long strip of patching rubber, like this:

By injecting M. & W. quick-repair cement through the puncture into this inner tube, and then pressing down on the tire with the thumb, like this,

the repair strip inside is picked up by the cement, thus closing the puncture, like this:

Very simple, but--now every rider should remember these two "buts," or he will fail:

Before injecting cement, pump up the tire. If you don't, the inner tube will be flabby, like this, and the cement will not get inside of it, where the repair strip lies.

When you have a puncture, get right off. Riding a tire flat, when it has a tack or nail in it, may damage it considerably.

CHAPTER II.

THE HOLDING UP OF OVERLAND NO. 3.

On the third day a dispatch came from Frederic Cullen telling his father he would join us at Lamy on No. 3 that evening. I at once ordered 97 and 218 on to the connecting train, and in an hour we were back on the main line. While waiting for the overland to arrive, Mr. Cullen asked me to do something which, as it later proved to have considerable bearing on the events of that night, is worth mentioning, trivial as it seems. When I had first joined the party, I had given orders for 97 to be kicked in between the main string and their special, so as not to deprive the occupants of 218 of the view from their observation saloon and balcony platform. Mr. Cullen came to me now and asked me to reverse the arrangement and make my car the tail end. I was giving orders for the splitting and kicking in when No. 3 arrived, and thus did not see the greeting of Frederic Cullen and his family. When I joined them, his father told me that the high altitude had knocked his son up, so that he had had to be helped from the ordinary sleeper to the special and had gone to bed immediately. Out west we have to know something of medicine, and my car had its chest of drugs. So I took some tablets and went into his stateroom.

Frederic was like his brother in appearance, though not in manner, having a quick, alert way. He was breathing with such difficulty that I was almost tempted to give him nitroglycerin, instead of strychnine, but he said he would be all right as soon as he became accustomed to the rarefied air, quite poohpoohing my suggestion that he take No. 2 back to Trinidad. And while I was still urging the train started. Leaving him the vials of digitalis and strychnine, therefore, I went back and dined alone on my own car, indulging at the end in a cigar the smoke of which would keep turning into pictures of Miss Cullen. I have thought about those pictures since then and have concluded that when cigar smoke behaves like that a man might as well read his destiny in it, for it can mean only one thing.

After enjoying the combination I went to No. 218 to have a look at the son and found that the heart tonics had benefited him considerably. On leaving him I went to the dining room, where the rest of the party were still at dinner, to ask that the invalid have a strong cup of coffee, and after delivering my request Mr. Cullen asked me to join them in a cigar. This I did gladly, for a cigar and Miss Cullen's society were even pleasanter than a cigar and Miss Cullen's pictures, because the pictures never quite did her justice, and, besides, didn't talk.

Our smoke finished, we went back to the saloon, where the gentlemen sat down to poker, which Lord Ralles had just learned and liked. They did not ask me to take a hand, for which I was grateful, as the salary of a railroad superintendent would hardly stand the game they probably played. And I had my compensation when Miss Cullen also was not asked to join them. She said she was going to watch the moonlight on the mountains from the platform and opened the door to go out, finding for the first time that No. 97 was the "ender." In her disappointment she protested against this and wanted to know the why and wherefore.

"We shall have far less motion, Madge," Mr. Cullen explained. "And then we shan't have the rear end man in our car at night."

"But I don't mind the motion," urged Miss Cullen, "and the flagman is there only after we are all in our rooms. Please leave us the view."

"I prefer the present arrangement, Madge," said Mr. Cullen in a very positive voice.

I was so sorry for Miss Cullen's disappointment that, on impulse, I said, "The platform of 97 is entirely at your service, Miss Cullen." The moment it was out I realized that I ought not to have said it and that I deserved a rebuke for supposing she would use my car.

Miss Cullen took it better than I hoped for and was declining the offer as kindly as my intention had been in making it when, much to my astonishment, her father said:

"By all means, Madge. That relieves us of the discomfort of being the last car, and yet lets you have the scenery and moonlight."

Miss Cullen looked at her father for a moment, as if not believing what she had heard. Lord Ralles scowled and opened his mouth to say something, but checked himself and only flung his discarded down as if he hated the cards. "Thank you, papa," said Miss Cullen. "But I think I will watch you play."

"Now, Madge, don't be foolish," said Mr. Cullen irritably. "You might just as well have the pleasure, and you'll only disturb the game if you stay here."

The whole incident had not taken ten seconds, yet it puzzled me beyond measure, even while my heart beat with an unreasonable hope, for my better sense told me that it simply meant that Lord Ralles disapproved, and Miss Cullen, like any girl of spirit, was giving him notice that he was not yet privileged to control her actions. Whatever the scene meant, his lordship did not like it, for he swore at his lack the moment Miss Cullen had left the room.

When Miss Cullen returned, we went back to the rear platform of 97. I let down the traps, closed the gates, got a campstool for her to sit on, with a cushion to lean back on and a footstool, and fixed her as comfortably as I could, even getting a traveling rug to cover her lap, for the plateau air was chilly. Then I hesitated a moment, for I had the feeling that she had not thoroughly approved of the thing and therefore she might not like to have me stay. Yet she was so charming in the moonlight, and the little balcony the platform made was such a tempting spot to linger on, while she was there, that it wasn't easy to go. Finally I asked:

"You are quite comfortable, Miss Cullen?"

"Sinfully so," she laughed. "Then perhaps you would like to be left to enjoy the moonlight and your meditations by yourself?" I questioned. I knew I ought to have said more, but I simply couldn't when she looked so enticing.

"Do you want to go?" she asked. "No," I ejaculated, so forcibly that she gave a little startled jump in her chair. "That is—I mean," I stuttered, embarrassed by my own vehemence, "I rather thought you might not want me to stay."

"What made you think that?" she demanded.

I am not a good hand at inventing explanations. After a moment's seeking for some reason I plumped out, "Because I feared you might not think it proper to use my car, and I suppose it's my presence that made you think it."

"Don't you find it very lonely?"

She took my stupid fumble very nicely, laughing merrily while saying, "If you like mountains and moonlight, Mr. Gordon, and don't mind the lack of a chaperon, get a stool for yourself, too." What was more, she offered me half of the lap robe when I was seated beside her.

I think she was pleased by my offer to go away, for she talked very pleasantly and far more intimately than she had ever done before, telling me facts about her family, her Chicago life, her travels and even her thoughts. From this I learned that her elder brother was an Oxford graduate, and that Lord Ralles and his brother were classmates, who were visiting him for the first time since he had graduated. She asked me some questions about my work, which led me to tell her pretty much everything about myself that I thought could be of the least interest, and it was a very pleasant surprise to me to find that she knew one of the old team and had even heard of me from him.

"Why," she exclaimed, "how absurd of me not to have thought of it before! But, you see, Mr. Colston always speaks of you by your first name. You ought to hear how he praises you."

"Trust Harry to praise any one," I said. "There were some pretty low fellows on the old team—men who could not keep their word or their tempers and would slug every chance they got—but Harry used to insist there wasn't a bad egg among the lot."

"Don't you find it very lonely to live out here, away from all your old friends?" she asked.

I had to acknowledge that it was, and told her the worst part was the absence of pleasant women. "Till you arrived, Miss Cullen," I said, "I hadn't seen a well-gowned woman in four years." I've always noticed that a woman would rather have a man notice and praise her frock than her beauty, and Miss Cullen was apparently no exception, for I could see the remark pleased her.

"Don't western women ever get eastern gowns?" she asked.

"Any quantity," I said. "But you know, Miss Cullen, that it isn't the gown, but the way it's worn, that gives the artistic touch." For a fellow who had devoted the last seven years of his life to grades and fuel and rebates and pay rolls I don't think that was bad. At least it made Miss Cullen's mouth dimple at the corners.

The whole evening was so eminently satisfactory that I almost believe I should be talking yet if interruption had not come. The first premonition of it was Miss Cullen's giving a little shiver, which made me ask if she was cold.

"Not at all," she said. "I only—what place are we stopping at?" I started to rise, but she checked the movement and said: "Don't trouble yourself. I thought you would know without moving. I really don't care to know."

I took out my watch and was startled to find it was 20 minutes past 12. I wasn't so green as to tell Miss Cullen so, and merely said, "By the time, this must be Sanders."

"Do we stop long?" she asked.

"Only to take water," I told her, and then went on with what I had been speaking about when she shivered. But as I talked it slowly dawned on me that we had been standing still some time, and presently I stopped speaking and glanced off, expecting to recognize something, only to see alkali plain on both sides. A little surprised, I looked down, to find no siding. Rising hastily, I looked out forward. I could see moving figures on each side of the train, but that meant nothing, as the train's crew—and, for that matter, passengers—were very apt to alight at every stop. What did mean something was that there was no water tank, no station, or any other visible cause for a stop.

"Is anything the matter?" asked Miss Cullen.

"I think something's wrong with the engine or the roadbed, Miss Cullen," I said. "And if you'll excuse me I'll go forward and see."

I had barely spoken when "Bang, bang!" went two shots. That they were both fired from an English "express" my ears told me, for no other people in this world make a mountain howitzer and call it a rifle.

Hardly were the two shots fired when "Crack, crack, crack, crack!" went some Winchester.

"Oh, what is it?" cried Miss Cullen.

"I think your wish has been granted," I said. "We are being held up, and Lord Ralles is showing us how to."

My speech was interrupted. "Bang, bang!" challenged another "express," the shots so close together as to be almost simultaneous. "Crack, crack, crack!" retorted the Winchester, and from the fact that silence followed I drew a clear inference. I said to myself, "That is an end of poor Julian Bull."

Good Printing...

Is like good painting—it demands and obtains a second glance. The second glance leads to thought about and knowledge of the thing portrayed, and then on to the artist or advertiser.

The kind of printing as well as the kind of painting that it pays to do and to have done is that which obtains this "second glance." Plenty of the other kind!
